

URGES AUSTRALIAN LABOR LAWS HERE

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—"Permanent peace cannot be assured until the nations of the world are placed on an equal footing as far as labor is concerned," said G. S. Beeby, minister of labor for New South Wales, today, previous to his departure for England to continue his investigation of conditions. He has been in the United States three months, visiting San Francisco, Portland, Ore.; Denver, Chicago, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, and other industrial and trade centers.

The recognition of the fundamentals—the eight-hour day, right to organize, the settlement of industrial disputes by conference and negotiation instead of litigation—he advocates as essential in laying the foundation of stable labor conditions. He advocates the adoption of the Australian system to the United States. The Australian laws, as effective or proposed, provide for: Federal regulation of factory and shop; industrial safety; workmen's compensation; a method of fixing the basic living wage; control of child labor; apprenticeship, and vocational training; prescribing of the standard working day, and these laws control all other matters directly affecting employers and working relations.

WILLIAMS CHARGES BANK FOUGHT HIM

Charges that a Washington bank had employed a newspaper man to conduct a campaign to prevent confirmation of John Skelton Williams as comptroller of the currency have been made by the comptroller.

Norborne Robinson, correspondent for the Buffalo Evening News, says he is the correspondent referred to. He says that Williams had photographed a promissory note which Robinson had placed with the bank, and that Williams "flushed" the photograph on him in the course of an interview.

Mr. Robinson, in a statement, says: "Although he withholds names, Mr. Williams refers to me in his statement. It is easy to read between the lines of Mr. Williams' statement the suggestion of intimidation. Mr. Williams, the Comptroller, is using his official position to obtain private information which he could not obtain as an individual. In having my promissory note photographed he was not engaged in any duty required of him as a Government official, but as John Skelton Williams, struggling to hold a Government job."

Calls Methods Autocratic.

"With other Americans I have felt we were at war with autocracy. Woodrow Wilson, to whom Mr. Williams owes his position, and to whom he is looking for reappointment, is fighting autocracy with all his might. Yet Mr. Williams, in an effort to intimidate those who dare criticize him, uses autocratic methods of the sort he has standing in my profession."

"I did not seek participation in a publicity campaign against Mr. Williams. I have merely known him as an unpopular Government official. His statement tonight must carry to all fair-minded men the conviction of his unfitness for public office. My newspaper associates in Washington at all times have authority to pass on my standing in my profession."

Evidence in his possession, Mr. Williams said, showed that a certain memorandum, which he had obtained by chance, had been prepared for the bank in question by a newspaper man. The document which had come into his possession, Mr. Williams said, was headed "Memorandum for Mr. Williams" and was signed by a newspaper man. Mr. Williams witholding the name, but making the memorandum public. Following is a copy of the "memorandum" in part:

Publicity Campaign Urged.

"If reappointed and confirmed, the present Comptroller of the Currency will remain in office for five years."

"All that is needed is determination on the part of two or three Republican Senators. If they assume the responsibility, the Democrats are not apt to make a serious fight for Williams in the Senate."

"A publicity campaign should be started at once, but should be run very quietly. Several papers will print stories if the stories are handed to them disguised."

"If publicity can come when the name is sent to the Senate and referred to the committee."

"In the meantime, a good story here and there would help the Senators along."

"Get several bankers in on the deal. The charges will be $250 a week. I am sure I can do some good work for the cause."

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—More than 55,000 garment workers will return to work Monday, after being on strike for three months. This announcement was made today after the manufacturers of men's and boys' clothing had agreed to the workers' demands for a 44-hour week.

The strike of the 35,000 ladies' waist and dress workers, however, is still in progress. They are also demanding a 44-hour week.

BOSTON, Mass., Jan. 24.—With several thousand textile workers on strike, and with the mills flatly refusing their demands for shorter hours and more pay, Governor Coolidge today was considering the calling of a conference of mayors to determine whether the State should take action.

BOCHES DISGUISED AS WOMEN.

BRUSSELS, Jan. 24.—Several German men disguised as women were arrested today near Mons, following the explosion of a munitions dump which destroyed over a mile of the Ostend-Brussels railroad. The peasants in the region of the explosion fled in terror.

BOLIVIA REQUESTS MARITIME OUTLET

PARIS, Jan. 24.—Bolivia today made formal request to the peace delegates to give her a seaport when the conditions for a league of nations are framed.

Bolivia claimed to possess historic rights to Taena province, which is now part of Chile, bordering the Pacific. This province would give Bolivia a maritime outlet to the sea.

Claims from Peru and Chile regarding territory were also presented to the delegates.

OSCAR STRAUS TO SAIL FOR FRANCE TOMORROW

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Oscar S. Straus, chairman of the committee that will represent the League to Enforce Peace at the peace conference, will sail for France tomorrow.

Mr. Straus had expected to meet representatives of the British, French, and Italian league of nations associations in Paris next Sunday, but a delay in the departure of the ship on which he had taken passage makes it impossible for him to reach Paris in time for this meeting.

Mr. Straus said he had received assurances from the allied associations that no final resolutions would be adopted until his arrival.
